REFLECTIONS

This Annual is Dedicated to Our Fellow Graduates

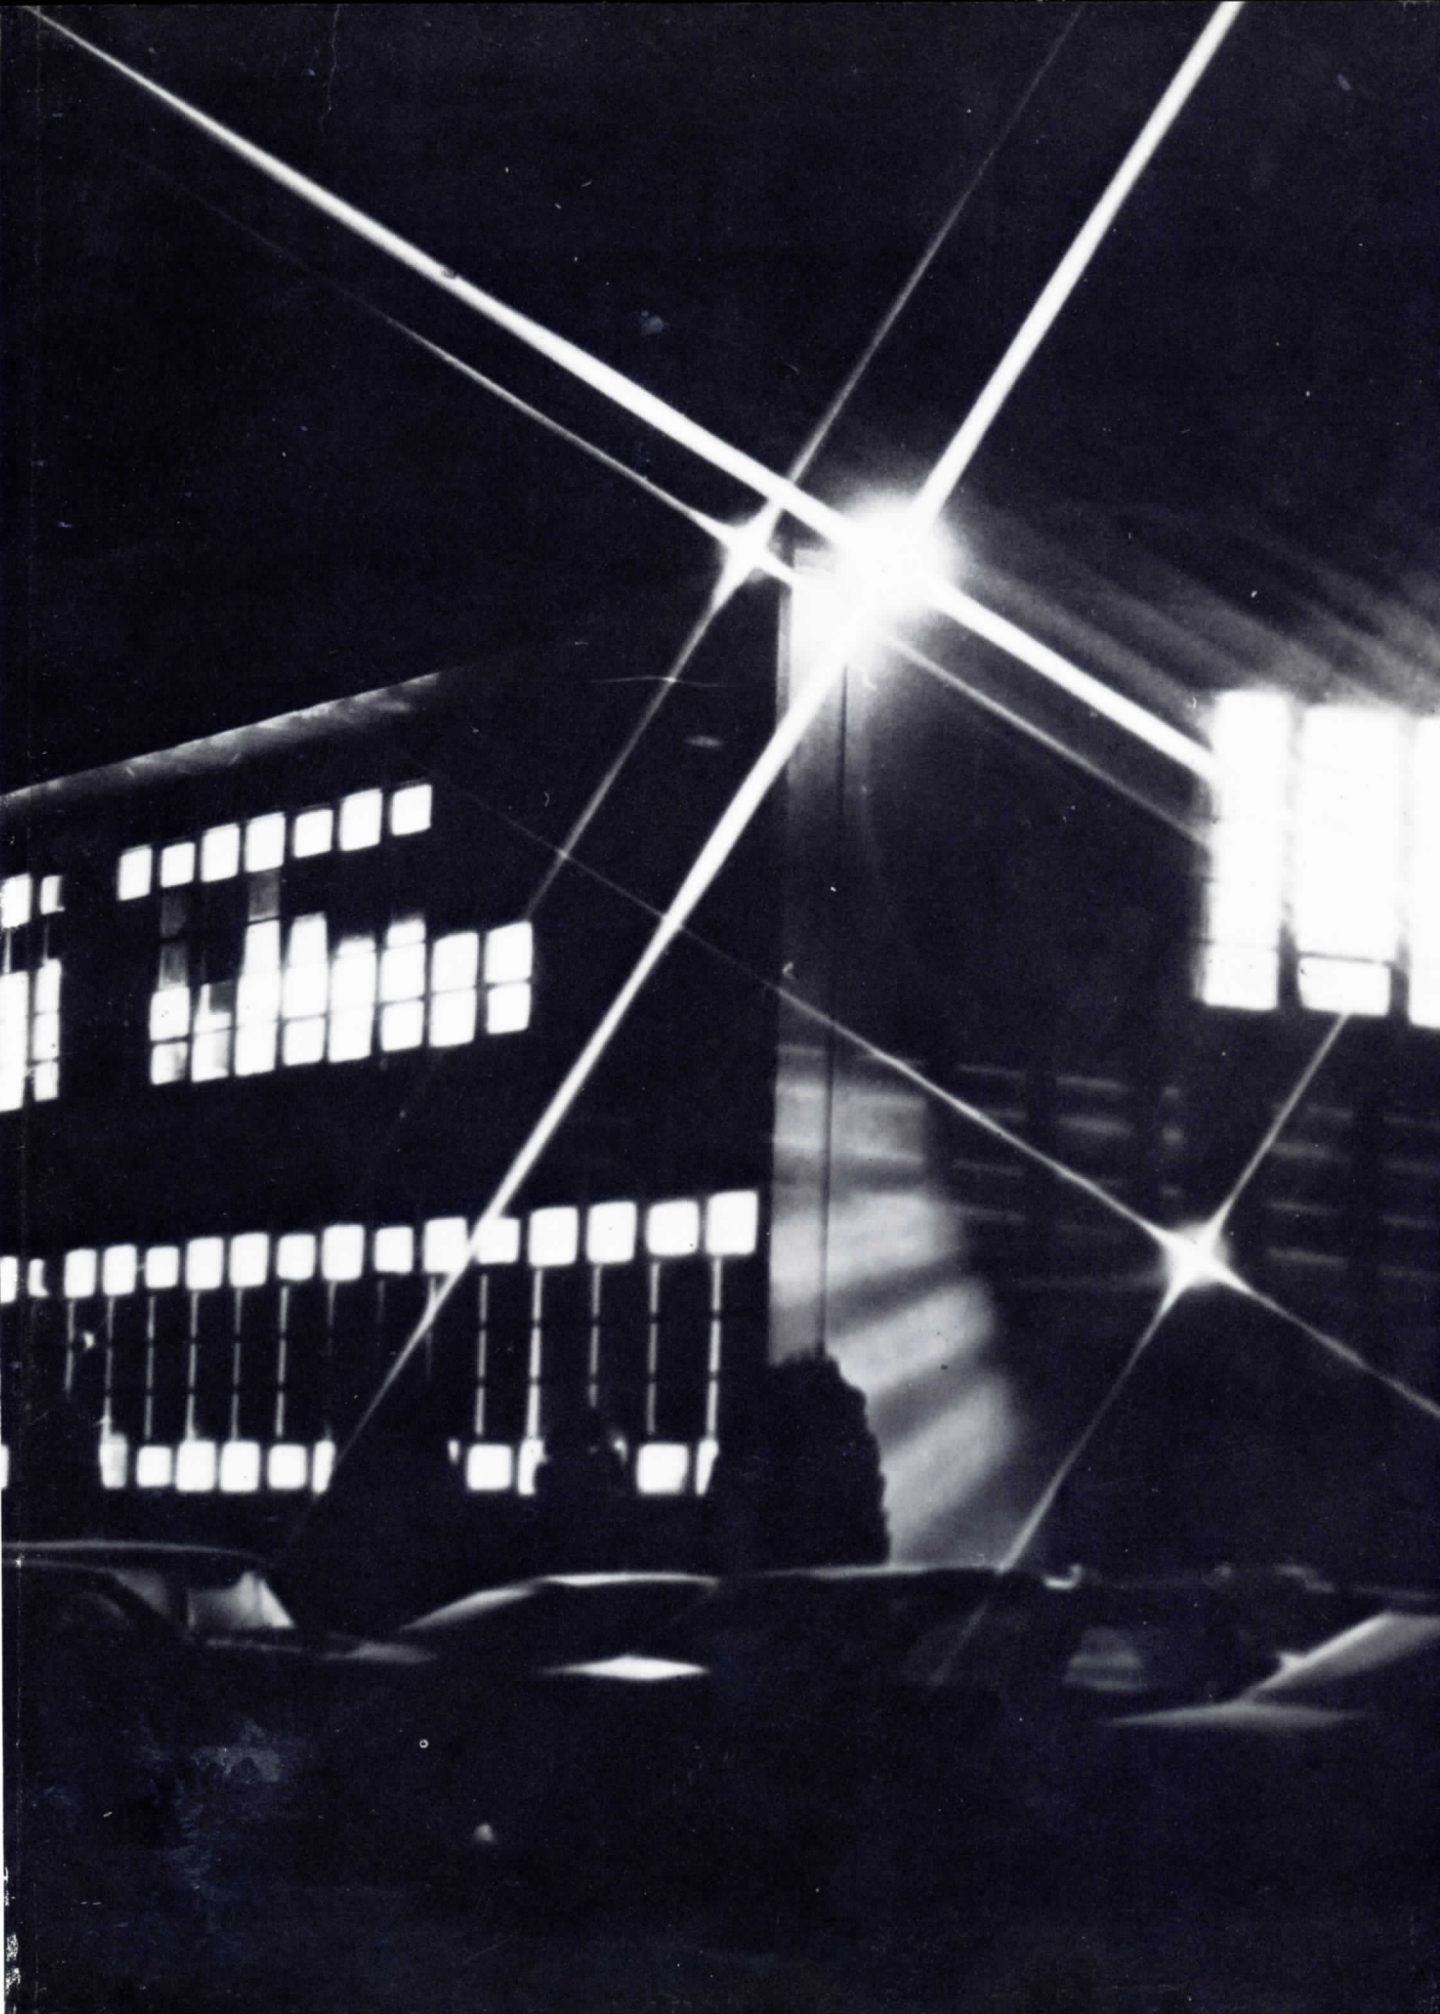
May They Enjoy Life to Its Fullest and Live to Appreciate Peace in Our Time



A SEASON FOR ALL THINGS

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:

A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;

A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;

A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;

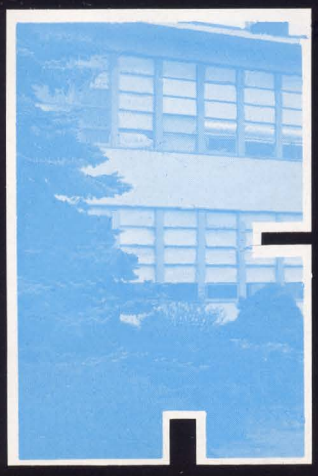
A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;

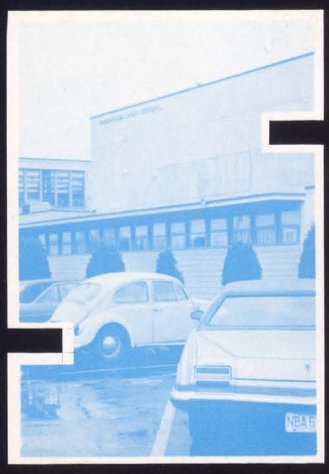
A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away;

A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;

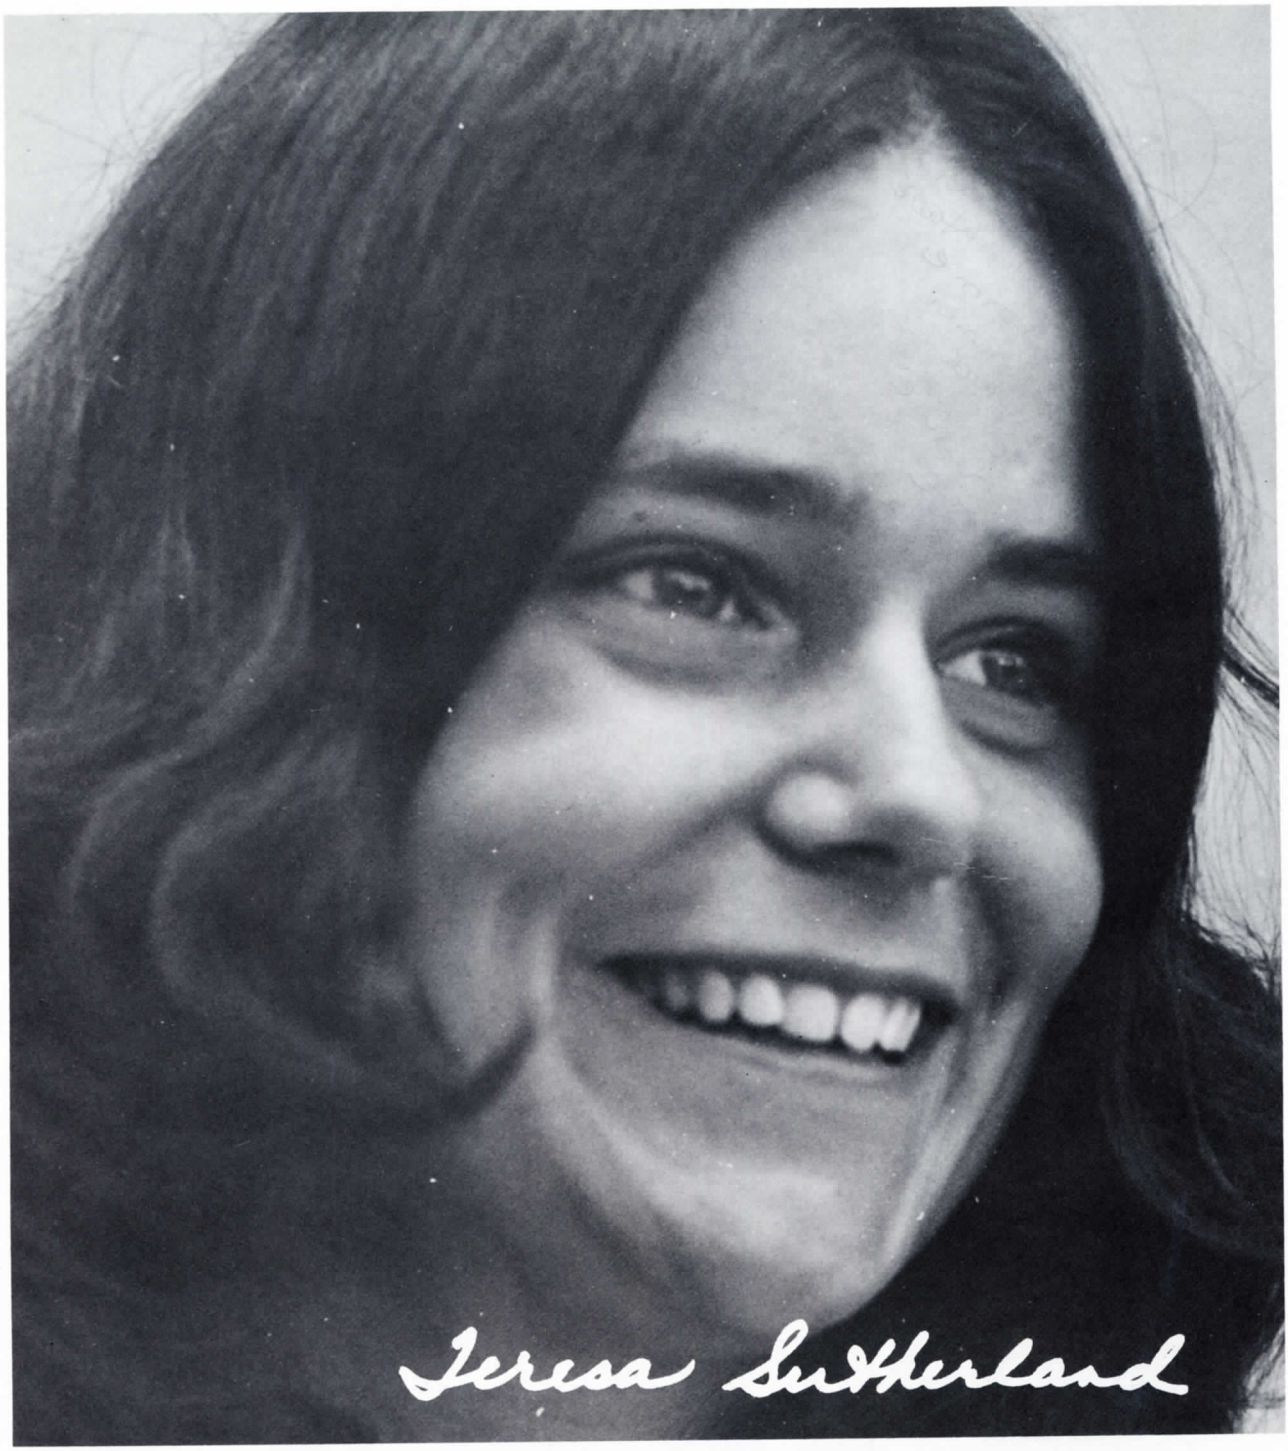
A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

Ecclesiastes, Chapter 3





RICHMOND SENIOR SECONDARY



In this time of rapid and sometimes confusing growth in all elements of our lives, we can stay on top and in control if we set for ourselves a lifetime goal which is slightly out of our immediate grasp. In striving to reach this distant star, we meet new friends and are challenged by new experiences that will help us to grow along with and, hopefully, in harmony with our society. Be encountering hardship, suffering, small failures, joy, happiness, and small successes, we will gradually be boosted closer to that now more - distinguishable star. Then, finally, with the final mustered shove from a continual love and loyalty of friends, our fingers will stretch out and enclose that final moment of accomplishment. It will be perfect if we remember the consistent love of friends that was the final step up to our goal and that there are others who need your helping hand to do the same.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

The Annual Staff interviewed school principal, Hal Lindsay, to get his personal reaction to some new ideas in education.

WHAT DO YOU HOPE TO ACHIEVE BY THE NEW SYSTEM YOU INTRODUCED THIS YEAR?

Some new concepts in education had their beginnings with the start of this school year. A new timetable was set up, and opportunities for the school to expand into the community became a reality. It is hoped that the new timetable will provide a chance for the school and the community to intermingle, and that students will have an opportunity to gain insights into fields of work and leisure in the real world outside the walls of the school. By exposing them to training programmes that involve a number of experiences and steps, it is hoped to encourage the students to explore various job interests and, hopefully, to find careers in which they may both enjoy themselves and advance by their own efforts.

HOW DO YOU THINK STUDENTS AND PARENTS ARE ADJUSTING TO THIS SYSTEM?

It appears that both students and parents are adjusting very well to the new learning conditions. Certainly, businesses are so eager to become involved that the programme must be slowed down so that the quality with which we started may remain intact.

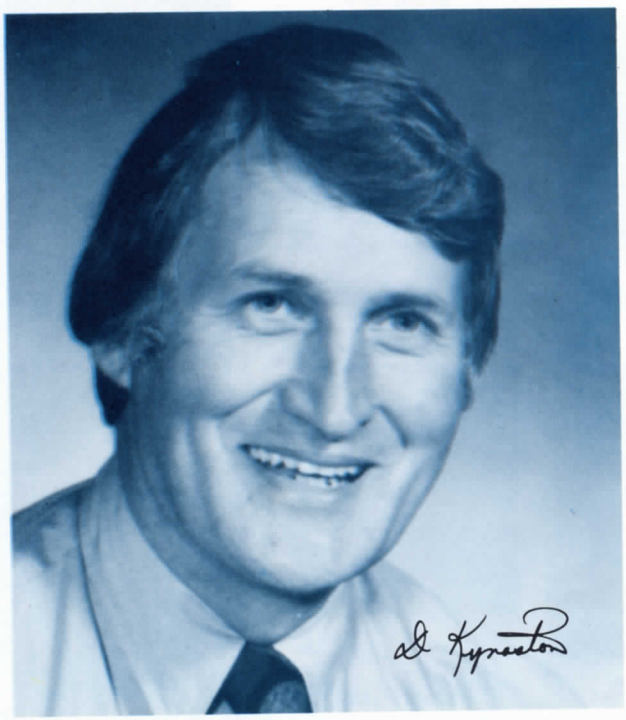
ARE YOU PERSONALLY SATISFIED TO DATE?

No. I will never be totally satisfied. The concept is right, but will always require work and new ideas to keep it effective and running smoothly. If we become satisfied with what we have done, it will soon appear that we are no longer advancing. However, I am pleased with the progress that is currently being made.

HOW FAR WOULD YOU LIKE THIS SYSTEM TO EXPAND?

Because of the central location of this school, it is quite possible that we will expand to operate on a much larger scale. With the large variety of subjects available at night school, it appears that a merger with them will be beneficial and, eventually, will provide an institution not only for learning but also for living.

DIRECTOR OF STUDENT SERVICES



Twenty-six years have passed since I graduated from Richmond High School. On many occasions during this, my first year back at this school, I have thought of the differences between the Richmond High School of 1949 and the Richmond Senior Secondary School of 1975. Some of these differences - the school's location and size, the number of students enrolled, the wider variety of courses offered, and the more relaxed atmosphere - are rather mundane considerations and should not be dwelt upon for long.

The interesting and exciting parts of my reflections are the similarities between the Richmonds of '49 and '75. Among these similarities are the idealism of teen-agers, their confidence in themselves and their futures, their desire to discover who they are and where they may fit into the scheme of things, and the desire of the staff to help in the educational and social development of these young people.

In these unsettled times, association with the young adults at Richmond Senior Secondary School is a reassuring experience.

VOCATIONAL WING

ONCE upon a time there was a school. Not a new school by any means, but an old school with new parts. One of these new parts was called the Vocational Wing, after the famous lion tamer, R. W. Vocational.

This secluded wing of the school housed the vocational students. They were being trained in many vital areas of work such as carpentry, metal work, electricity and electronics, plastics, printing and photography - all the things that kept the circus going. An automotive section has also been incorporated because after all, back in the days of the circus someone had to keep the caravans in working order. All these areas of study had been mastered by the great lion tamer himself.

R.W. Vocational's wife and liberated son also contributed their findings to the program, installing a Home Economics section with areas of study in nutrition, cooking, sewing and other domestic arts. When R.W. Vocational was top man in the circus his wife and liberated son had to feed all the elephants and lions and other wild animals. (Even today there are still a few wild animals in there!) They also had to sew costumes for the circus people, and that is how all these skills became a part of this super training program.

All the students who took part in the Vocational Wing program benefitted from their hard work and helped others and themselves build a better world and live happily ever after.

. . . AND THE WINNERS OF THE 1974 V.D. CUP . . . THE RICHMOND COLTS!

THE VANCOUVER AND DISTRICT CUP FINAL

On Thursday, November 21, came the Vancouver District Cup playoff. The two bitter rivals in high school football, our almighty Colts and the league winners, Steveston Packers, were to kick off at Empire Stadium.

The Colts beamed into a 22-0 first-half lead thanks to TD's by Dave Mills, Chuck Scott, Kevin Snider and the experience of QB Tim Raddons.

The second-half saw the Colts widened lead soon shortened by Steveston as they ran in for two TD's and made the score 22-14. But our faithful Colts never did give up, volunteering an arm and a leg to prove that we really are Number One.

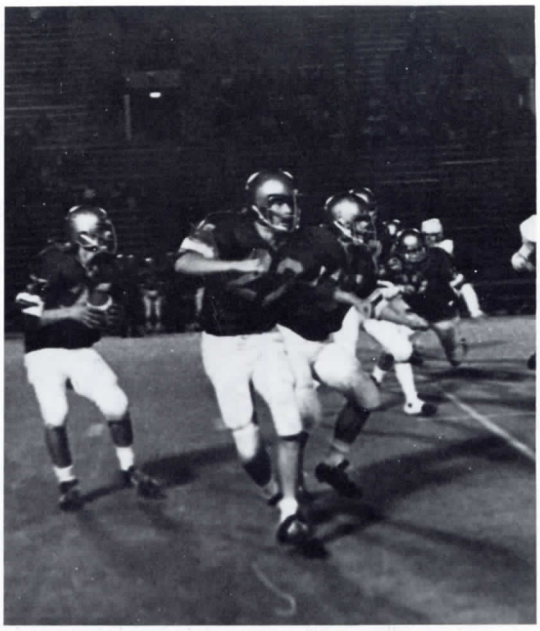
LET'S BOOGIE

A TREMENDOUS YEAR

The Richmond Colts football club had one of their most successful seasons in 1974, chalking up 275 points in 10 games counting exhibitions and playoffs. They won six of eight in the season, the defence being scored on just 96 times in ten games.

The very first game saw the Colts travel to Port Towns (USA) and mangle them 28-14 for their only exhibition game. The season approached and the rough tough Colts blanked teams left and right. Then came the big game that everyone was waiting for.



One, Two, Three, Kick . . .

RAPE! RAPE!

The much despised Steveston Packers and our loyal Colts were to re-enact the Battle of the Bulge here in our backfield. Steveston came out using their panzer unit and shot the Colts to pieces 42-0. After that dreadful loss, the Colts decided to take all their grief out on Killarney, massacring them 63-0, then went undefeated into the playoffs and positioned themselves in 2nd place right after Steveston.

"EEDI'S MY HEROE!"

SOCCER

The Colts soccer club had a good season in 1974 as they moved up and down the standings. They had a strong first half of the season with help from coach Lisle as he gave our boys pep talks that curled their hair. The team ran into problems in the second half of the season as they made a run at the boat, but fell off the pier and parked themselves into fifth place.

The Colts had an overall total of seven wins, five losses and two ties for sixteen points. But the game that did the most damage to the Colts was the one game against John Oliver that was supposed to decide fourth place. A do-or-die game for both teams; unfortunately, the Colts died. The game went J.O.'s way as they defeated the Colts 2-1 in a sizzling battle that went down to the wire, and knocked the Colts out of the playoffs.

Next year, well, next year, most of the stars on the soccer team will be up and atom. But you rookies take some advice, Mr. Lisle's voice can damage your ear drums as well as your mind.

HOCKEY OFF ICE

This year's grasshockey team was a success, making it into the semifinals and having a lot of fun doing it. Mrs. Ritchie coached the team while Charlene DeFaye, the manager, managed to keep the team in oranges during half time. The team received new uniforms this year consisting of a maroon kilt and a white golfshirt. Unfortunately, again this year the girls had to play all their games away. The highlight of the season was the girls' defeat the boys' soccer team.

Coach: Mrs. Ritchie. Team members: Tracy Armstrong, Paula Dusanj, Heather Darbyshire, Cheryl Hodgson, Belinda Honigman, Debby Gray, Paula MacDonald, Heather MacLean, Evelyn Maichin, Barb McIntosh, Kelly Marlowe, Lynn Pemberton, Sharon Reid, Donna Roberts, Heather Robertson, Catherine Tinson, Yvonne Svensson, Teresa Sutherland, Audrey Schotch. Team Captain: Debbie Gray. Manager: Charlene DeFaye.

Badminton

The badminton team was very successful this year. They did particularly well in league play and weren't defeated once. The entire team won the Vancouver Championship; the boys team, Gary Adams and Bruce Mulleny, won Vancouver title for top team, and the girls team, Gloria Booth and Kathy Andrus, were the runner-ups. Gloria and Kathy won top team in the B. C. Championship as well.

Open mind
The beauty of earth in pain.
I call and turn and fall with speed,
My clothes are drenched in rain.

HAPPINESS

Happiness
Deep inside grows
Through the body and no one
Can misjudge the beauty of Happiness.
A ray of sunshine
Penetrating the depths
Of the dark brings
Happiness.
A wingless, high, free
Flight is Happiness.

Arlene Kroeker

EARTH

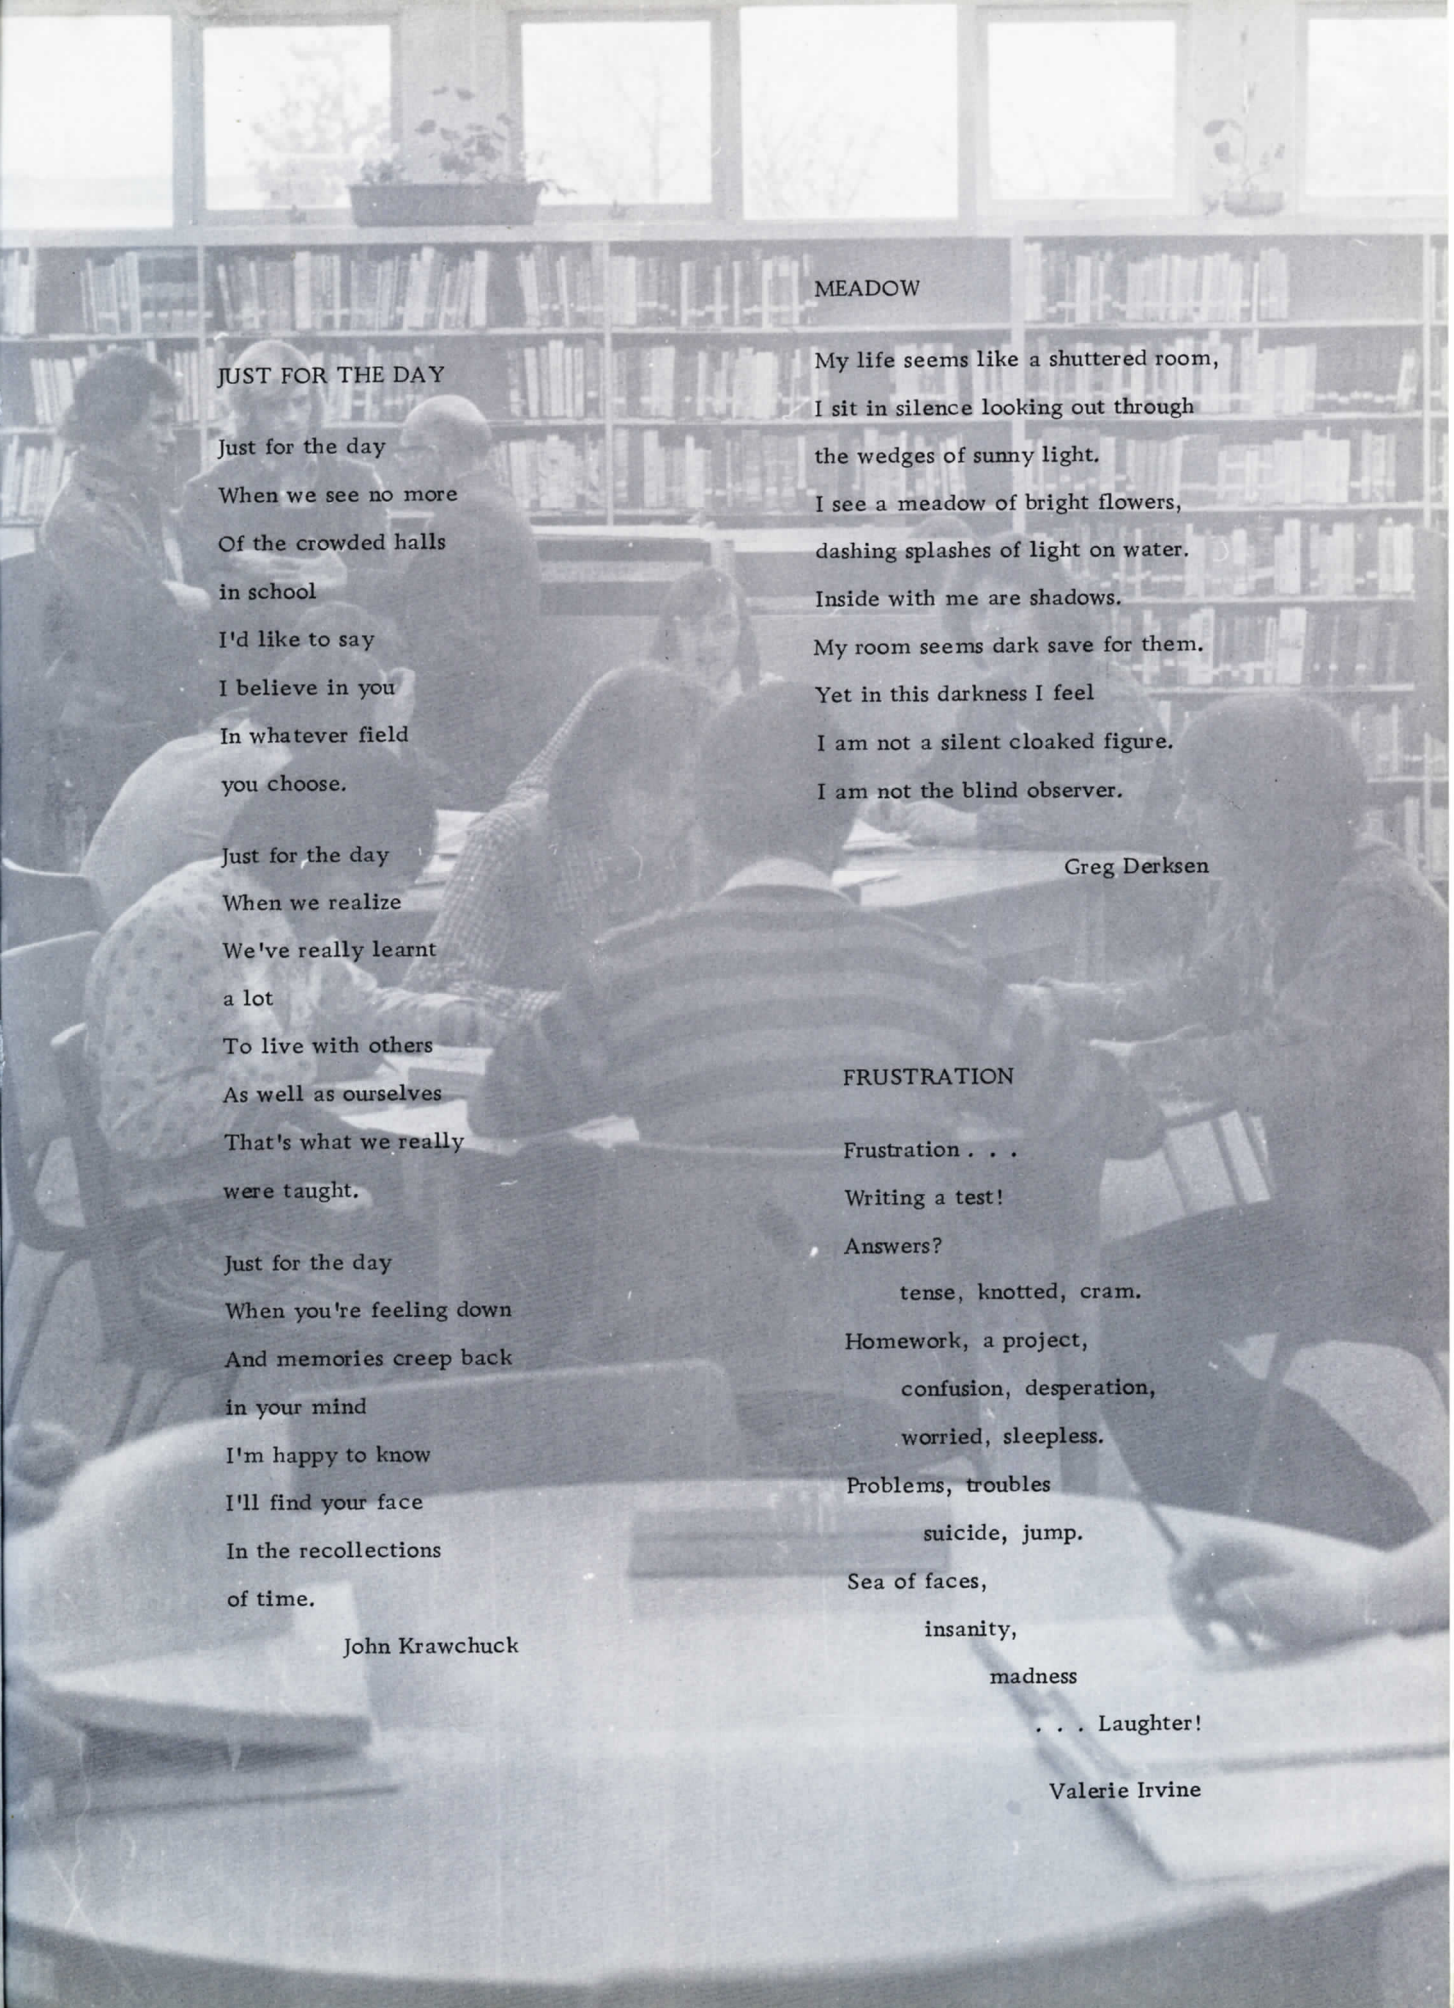
Earth;
Round as a ball,
Blue as the sky,
A god's creation;
In the Universe we lie,
Surrounded by planets;
Carried by gravitation,
Filled with civilization,
Animals.
Fat, skinny, ugly, gorgeous.
Bigots, racist, hatred, love,
Religion, ideas, colour, languages.

Is there no solution
To the water pollution,
Or land or noise or air?
The god can't help
'Cause the people won't help;
And the cupboard was left very bare.

Inflation, death,
Depression, death.
War, guns, tanks.
Bombs will destroy
Every girl and boy.

And the earth is gone to the beginning;
With just the rippling of waves,
And the Lord God can't save,
And the silence is the wind, just singing.

Sam Lackner



JUST FOR THE DAY

Just for the day
When we see no more
Of the crowded halls
in school
I'd like to say
I believe in you
In whatever field
you choose.

Just for the day
When we realize
We've really learnt
a lot
To live with others
As well as ourselves
That's what we really were taught.

Just for the day
When you're feeling down
And memories creep back in your mind
I'm happy to know
I'll find your face
In the recollections of time.

MEADOW

My life seems like a shuttered room,
I sit in silence looking out through the wedges of sunny light.
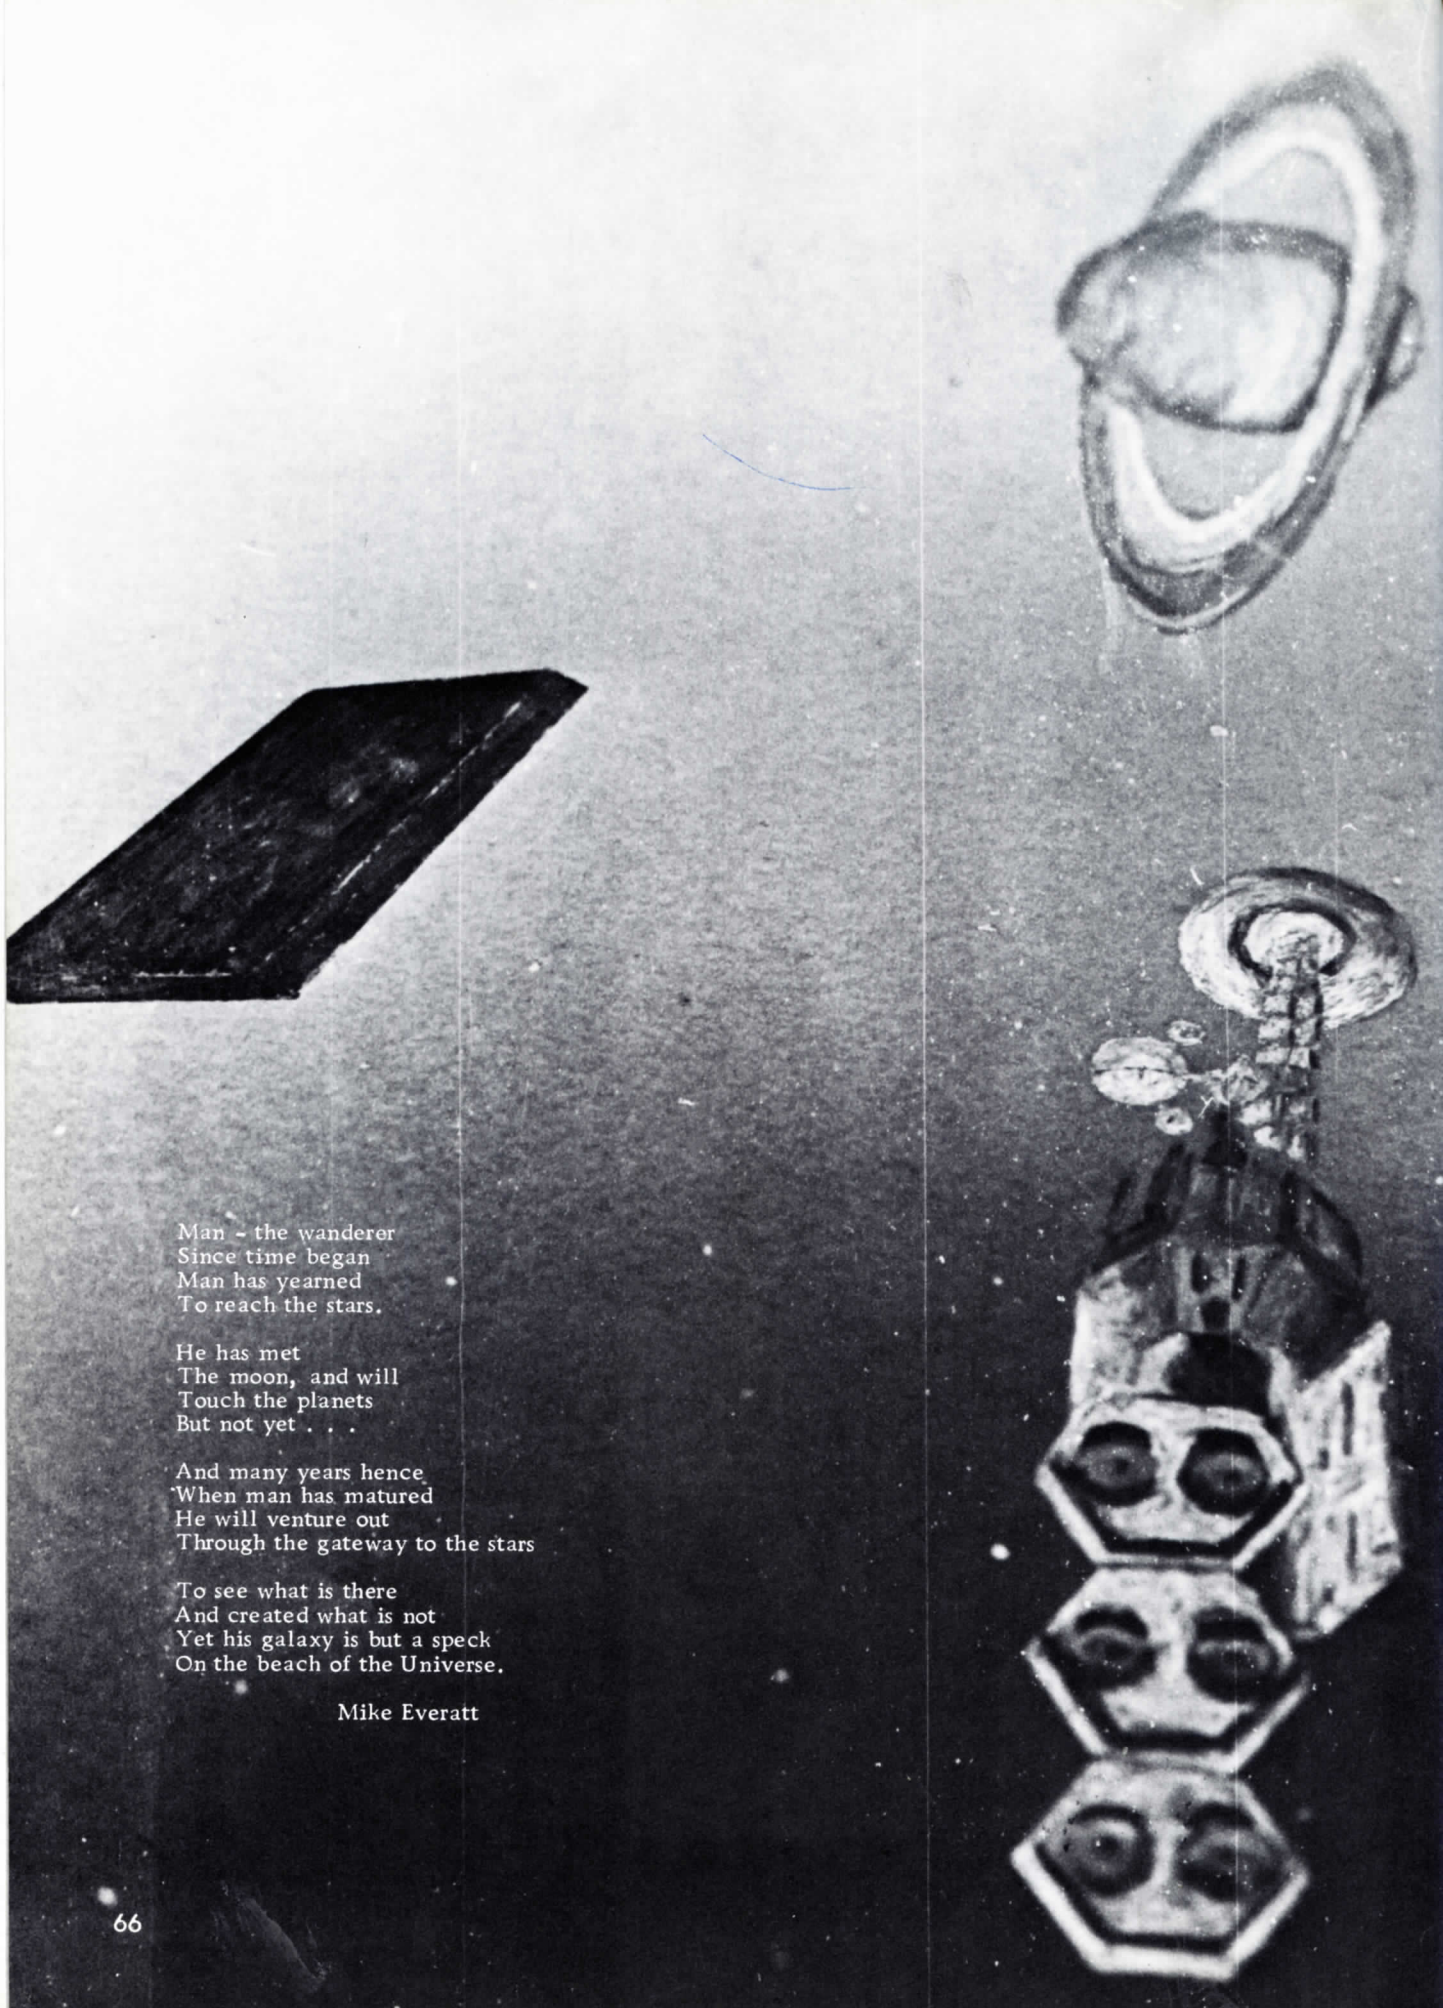
I see a meadow of bright flowers,
dashing splashes of light on water.
Inside with me are shadows.
My room seems dark save for them.
Yet in this darkness I feel
I am not a silent cloaked figure.
I am not the blind observer.

Greg Derksen

FRUSTRATION

Frustration . . .
Writing a test!
Answers?
tense, knotted, cram.
Homework, a project,
confusion, desperation,
worried, sleepless.
Problems, troubles
suicide, jump.
Sea of faces,
insanity,
madness
. . . Laughter!

Valerie Irvine



Man - the wanderer
Since time began
Man has yearned
To reach the stars.

He has met
The moon, and will
Touch the planets
But not yet . . .

And many years hence
When man has matured
He will venture out
Through the gateway to the stars

To see what is there
And created what is not
Yet his galaxy is but a speck
On the beach of the Universe.

A YEAR TO REMEMBER WAS '74

Can you remember your first day at Richmond High? When you were caught by our school's camera bugs. (Smile) Or, girls, how about all those times trying to get a drink from the fountain while wearing a short dress. (Awkward, isn't it). Or trying to pick up a pile of books during a class change while wearing a dress. Take the time when you wanted a can of pop badly, not having the money, and your credit lousy with your friends. (You have had your first experience with credit. Like it?) Or when you walked into the right class at the wrong time and didn't know it until you sat down. (Surprised!). Or you studied hard for a test and when you walked into the class a substitute was there. So you figure the test is off and you leave. The test is still on and you can't take a make-up test. (Worried?) Or the time some bright guys got it into their skulls to hold a piece of thread across the hallway, and when an innocent girl walked by, they tightened the thread and your dress would rise. You couldn't do anything about it because you didn't want to drop your books. Or the day the lights went out and we were sent home for the rest of the morning. (Not too many people showed up after lunch, did they? Where were you?). Or take Mrs. Simmins, the only way she could shut us up was to say. "I want to say a couple words about sex, kids." Funny enough it worked. Or when you walked into the washroom not to smoke but to go to the washroom everyone thought you were nuts.

THE NIGHT WHEN OUR RICHMOND COLTS BEAT THE STEVESTON PACKERS AT FOOTBALL. OR WHEN OUR STUDENT COUNCIL PLEDGED 150 DOLLARS AND THE STEVESTON COUNCIL PLEDGED ONLY 125 DOLLARS. OR THE NIGHT WHEN OUR HOCKEY AND BASKETBALL TEAMS BEAT STEVESTON IN BOTH GAMES.
